To be honest I wasn't sure what to expect from this latest offering by Samer Fanek, his style is usually emotionally charged and full flowing, but here on this latest single we have a beautiful mood filled arrangement that I instantly fell in love with, one so good that it's certainly going to be featured on my personal musical playlists for a long while to come.

The performance is incredibly stylish and almost emotive at times and perhaps gave us a narrative that like the wind, our lives change course and alter at whim. The fluency I sampled here by the artist was sublime and I would be more than happy to recommend this single to anyone who is looking for a truly moving, and artistic work, from a truly good pianist.
