Cadence Spalding hasn't just been on a roll lately, she is a one woman avalanche of sublime musical genius. This latest single is another amazing milestone of class and utter charm, and the anthem like refrains that utter from it have a crafted hook, a sing along chorus, and a texture of calm and serenity that is simply heavenly.

Trust in Love could well be one of those singles that gains the ultimate musical prize of becoming a timeless fan favourite, her vocals within this stunning offering show Spalding at her best, she emphasises a clever rise in energy when needed, and brings a wonderful intensity to the dynamics with perfection, vocal music in the new age industry simply doesn't come any better than this.
